

COMMITMENT FORM SUPPLY CHAIN CODE OF PRACTICE

Commitment to the Code:

By endorsing, committing and adhering to the Code the UKCS Supply Chain will improve commercial relationships and, in-turn, boost UKCS competitiveness.

Companies commit to the Code as a Purchaser or Supplier. The senior UK executive and the manager responsible for Supply Chain activities both sign on behalf of their company. They should communicate the Code to staff and emphasise the importance of Code commitment.

Code compliance is monitored to drive continuous improvement. Surveys and FPAL Performance Feedback will reveal gaps in compliance, and industry-wide results will be published by FPAL and the DTI.

Signatory companies should publicly demonstrate their support by displaying a signed copy of the Code in suitable locations (such as company reception). Using the Code's logo on websites and stationery should also be encouraged.
